

Centre for Sustainable
Energy

Our vision is a world where sustainability is second nature, carbon emissions have been cut to safe levels and fuel poverty has been replaced by energy justice

News from the Centre for Sustainable Energy | January 2010

Our latest news

Happy New Year to all and best wishes for success in cutting carbon emissions this year – particularly if, like CSE, you have signed up for the 10:10 campaign.

New Year's resolution aims for 10% cut in our carbon emissions

CSE has pledged to reduce its energy use by 10% in 2010 as part of the 10:10 campaign. Find out more about CSE's participation and the campaign itself here

Young people help decide the low carbon future of Bath and North East Somerset

A consultation event took place in Bath before Christmas for youngsters to give their views on the future development of their area. For more details of the event click here

Renewable planning support for planners and councillors

A series of workshops as well as an extended expert support network means there is plenty of help for planners and councillors who are developing policy and making planning decisions on renewable energy technologies. Discover how CSE is helping here

Carbon challenge aims to engage Redcliffe

A new community-led project to tackle climate change has been launched by CSE it aims to engage residents, businesses, community groups and the local secondary school just around the corner from our offices in Bristol. Find out what this will involve here

Staff news

A warm welcome to Toby Bridgeman who joined CSE this month as a Senior Research Project Worker. Toby joins CSE from the University of Leeds where he had been a Post-doctoral Research Fellow, having completed his PhD in 2008 in the field of bioenergy. He will mainly be involved in CSE research projects such as the DECC National Housing Model Scoping Exercise, Fuel Poverty Perspectives and the Code for Sustainable Homes.

Also congratulations and best wishes to CSE's Senior Development Manager, Jonathan Twomey and his wife, Amy, on the birth of their second daughter, Elsie, last week.